

I am opposed to regulation which would require broadcasters to record and retain all broadcast material. I work for a small market station and our budget is extremely tight, especially with increased fees, insurances and the general increase of costs associated with doing business. In order to comply with such a requirement, my boss would have to fire an employee or two, which would eliminate part of our local programming, in order to afford the cost of the recording equipment and personnel to archive the recordings and document compliance.
